PERSONAL STATEMENT

I am focusing my professional career in ICT and digital media in the field of education. Taking advantage of the enormous potential of the new digital formats in the implementation of original and outstanding Business strategies as well as in the innovation of new procedures of documentation and preservation of our heritage.

I am an inquisitive person who keeps his mind open and up-to-date on the new advances of technology and how it is changing the way of transmitting knowledge, communicate and even represent reality. I enjoy sketching new and amazing sites with functional and easily understandable interfaces to set up a final product that can reach every kind of user and that runs like clockwork. As a former historian I love reading and writing to feed my brain.

I am truly passionate about my work and willing to provide a 100% engagement with the goals of your next project. Test me!
